Introduction

The J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund is a donor-advised fund that facilitates charitable giving by individuals and legal entities. J.P. Morgan offers donor-advised fund accounts in conjunction with National Philanthropic Trust (NPT), an independent public charity that receives and administers donor gifts, and approves and distributes grants to qualified organizations suggested by donors.¹ Contributions to Charitable Giving Fund accounts are irrevocable gifts when received and accepted by NPT, which retains exclusive legal control over the contributed assets. Prospective donors should consult their legal and tax advisors regarding the deductibility of such gifts with respect to their particular circumstances.

This Reference Guide describes important policies and procedures affecting donors who establish and maintain a J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund account.

¹ The Charitable Giving Fund is subject to NPT's articles of incorporation and bylaws. Both J.P. Morgan and NPT reserve the right to modify this Reference Guide and the terms and conditions upon which the Fund is offered at any time. In addition, a donor's Charitable Giving Fund account may be subject to other applicable agreements with J.P. Morgan or other parties.

How the Charitable Giving Fund Works

- Make irrevocable charitable gifts to the Charitable Giving Fund of cash or eligible securities, including mutual fund shares or other illiquid assets. (See Establishing and Advising an Account.)
- Claim a tax deduction in the year the gift is made to the Charitable Giving Fund, up to the maximum allowed by law for contributions to public charities.
- Recommend that account assets be allocated among select J.P. Morgan and third-party investments, including mutual funds and exchange-traded-funds (ETFs). Asset allocations are subject to certain guidelines and approval by NPT.
- Upon request, certain accounts may utilize a customized investment account.
- Recommend that grants be made to qualified charitable organizations anywhere in the United States and, on a case-by-case basis, to international charities. Grants are subject to approval by NPT.
- Donors can make grant and investment allocation recommendations, submit a contribution agreement, make a credit card contribution and update the account, including Legacy Plan options, through DonorView.
- NPT is the sponsoring charity and will provide administration and recordkeeping for Charitable Giving Fund accounts.

Establishing and Advising an Account

Individuals, companies, foundations, trusts and estates, as well as certain other qualifying entities, are all eligible to open Charitable Giving Fund accounts. Corporations or other business entities may create accounts with the Charitable Giving Fund rather than start a foundation or other giving program. While the terms and conditions described in this Reference Guide generally apply to all donors, accounts set up by qualifying entities are subject to different account opening applications and administrative procedures. Please contact J.P. Morgan for information on establishing an entity account.

OPEN AN ACCOUNT

Donors may open a Charitable Giving Fund account with an initial gift of $25,000 or more in cash or eligible securities. Additional contributions of cash or securities may be made at any time thereafter in amounts of $5,000 or more. Gifts made by credit card may be made in amounts of $1,000 or more.

Name Your Account:

- When an account is established, the donor chooses an account name. In the case of individuals, this may be the donor's own name, the name of a family member or friend, or may contain the name of a broad charitable purpose (e.g., "The Smith Family Fund" or "The Arts Foundation"). The name may be modified by the advisors described below (the "Advisors") at any time.
- A Charitable Giving Fund account established by a qualifying entity may contain the name of the entity in the account name (e.g., "The XYZ Foundation" or "XYZ Charitable Fund").

Naming a Primary Advisor:

- The Primary Advisor typically is the primary donor to the Charitable Giving Fund account.
- The Primary Advisor has the authority to recommend grants and investment allocations, name and remove Joint and Secondary Advisors and recommend Legacy Plan Options (see Legacy Plan section of this Reference Guide).
- The Primary Advisor will have online access to view all Charitable Giving Fund account information, activity and statements. All correspondence regarding the Charitable Giving Fund account will be sent to the Primary Advisor.

Naming a Joint Advisor:

- The Primary Advisor may name one other person (such as a spouse, family member, friend, etc.) as Joint Advisor to the Charitable Giving Fund account, and may remove or replace the Joint Advisor at any time.
- The Joint Advisor will have full and equal privileges to recommend grants and investment allocations, name and remove Secondary Advisors and recommend Legacy Plan Options (see Legacy Plan section of this Reference Guide).

Naming Secondary Advisors:

- A Secondary Advisor may be an adult child, relative or friend who the donor believes will recommend grants from the Charitable Giving Fund account that are consistent with the donor's areas of interest.
- Secondary Advisors may be named to and removed from the Charitable Giving Fund account by either the Primary or Joint Advisor.
- Secondary Advisors may recommend grants from and investment allocations for the Charitable Giving Fund account.
- A Secondary Advisor does not automatically become a Successor to the Charitable Giving Fund account (see Legacy Plan section of this Reference Guide).
- A Secondary Advisor must be 18 years or older.

Updating Advisor and Fund Information:

- The Primary or Joint Advisor may add or update any other Advisor's contact information, revoke another Advisor's Fund account privileges, change or add Advisors and recommend Legacy Plan options at any time on DonorView.

LEGACY PLAN

Advisors are encouraged to recommend a Legacy Plan for their Charitable Giving Fund accounts. The Legacy Plan will become effective upon the death or resignation of the Primary and Joint Advisors (even if Secondary Advisors remain). If a Legacy Plan is not in place, the Abandoned Accounts Policy as outlined on page 12 will apply.

The Primary and/or Joint Advisor may select any combination of three Legacy Plan Options (subject to the qualifications noted below). Please designate the respective percentages of remaining DAF account assets that you would like distributed according to the three available options upon the notification of the death or incapacity of the last Primary or Joint Advisor. The total percentage of designated DAF assets allocated to selected Legacy Plan Options must equal 100%.

OPTION 1: INDIVIDUAL SUCCESSORS	OPTION 2: CHARITABLE BENEFICIARIES	OPTION 3: ENDOWMENT PROGRAM ($100,000 minimum required)*
Name one or more Individual Successor(s), each to be designated as a Primary Advisor on a new DAF account	Designate one or more charities to receive a lump-sum grant at the time of Legacy Plan activation	Select the total percentage of DAF assets designated to Option 3—Endowment Program
Select the percentage of DAF assets designated to each named Individual Successor(s)	Select the percentage of DAF assets designated to each named Charitable Beneficiary	Select the percentage of endowment account assets to be distributed annually among all named charities ("Annual Payout")
If division of assets for Option 1 creates DAF account(s) with balance(s) below $25,000, successor(s) will have 90 days to bring balance up to $25,000 DAF minimum or recommend grants to qualified charities	If a designated charity is not eligible to receive a grant at the time of Legacy Plan activation, designated assets will be reallocated among the remaining charities	Designate one or more charities to receive an annual grant and specify the percentage that each charity will receive. The total allocation must equal 100% Example: Charity #1 (40%), Charity #2 (60%)
If a named Individual Successor is not able or willing to serve, their portion will be allocated proportionally among the other named Successor		Assets allocated to the Endowment Option will be invested in the Conservative Investment Pool available at the time of activation; trading will occur within 90 days of the receipt of written notice of the Legacy Plan activation (e.g., death certificate) When an Endowment Account balance reaches $25,000, final lump-sum grant(s) will be made to designated charities

* $100,000 minimum required at the time of Legacy Plan activation for Endowment Program eligibility. If available DAF assets are less than $100,000, this Legacy Plan selection will revert to Option 2.

 If no designated charity is eligible to receive grants at the time of Legacy Plan activation, the Abandoned Accounts Policy will apply.

FUND THE ACCOUNT

Gifts to a Charitable Giving Fund account may be in the form of cash or marketable securities (including mutual fund shares). In certain circumstances, the Charitable Giving Fund may also accept other assets (See Gifting Illiquid Assets).² Please contact your J.P. Morgan representative for additional funding information.

ASSET TYPE	HOW TO CONTRIBUTE
Cash and credit card	Donors may contribute cash by mailing a check payable to “National Philanthropic Trust” to National Philanthropic Trust. Please contact J.P. Morgan for instructions on funding via wire transfer. Credit card gifts may be made by logging into your Charitable Giving Fund account on DonorView.
Publicly traded and restricted securities	Donors may contribute publicly traded and restricted securities via wire transfer in deliverable form. Securities held for more than one year are usually deductible at fair market value (FMV). Securities held one year or less are valued at lesser of FMV or cost basis. Please consult with your tax advisor about your specific legal or tax situation.
Mutual fund shares	Donors may contribute mutual fund shares by having the shares transferred to the Charitable Giving Fund account. Securities held for more than one year are usually deductible at fair market value (FMV). Securities held one year or less are valued at lesser of FMV or cost basis. Please consult with your tax advisor about your specific legal or tax situation.
Privately/closely held stock	Donors may contribute stock or limited partnership interests in privately held corporations on a case-by-case basis. An additional fee will be charged to process these gifts.
Bequests and testamentary gifts	A Charitable Giving Fund account may be named as the beneficiary of a bequest of cash or securities, and may be named as a designated beneficiary of a life insurance policy or a qualified retirement plan (such as an IRA). An account can also be the beneficiary of a charitable remainder trust or charitable lead trust. To be eligible for the tax benefits associated with these types of bequests and testamentary gifts, it is important that “National Philanthropic Trust” is named as the beneficiary. Please contact your J.P. Morgan representative for additional information and suggested language to designate your Charitable Giving Fund account as the beneficiary of your estate planning vehicle.
Real estate and other illiquid assets	Donors may also contribute gifts of real estate and other illiquid assets, which will be considered on a case-by-case basis. ³ An additional fee will be charged to process these gifts.
Grants and transfers from a foundation or donor-advised fund	Donors may transfer funds from an existing private, corporate or family foundation, or from another donor-advised fund, by mailing a check payable to “National Philanthropic Trust” to J.P. Morgan, or via wire transfer. In the instance where the transfer could involve non-cash assets, please call us at 888.988.1983. ⁴

A donor can be an Advisor on the Charitable Giving Fund account or a third-party contributor. The donor, or owner of the assets, will complete the Contribution Agreement and is eligible for a charitable gift tax deduction.

Before making any gift, donors must complete a Contribution Agreement. Donors may submit a contribution agreement online through DonorView or by completing the Contribution Agreement form. Donors should coordinate all gifts to their Charitable Giving Fund accounts with their J.P. Morgan representative. Donors should also contact their J.P. Morgan representative to obtain a pre-assigned clearing account number prior to sending securities or mutual fund shares, and more information on contributing privately/closely held stock and bequests and testamentary gifts. National Philanthropic Trust reserves the right to request a new donor-executed contribution agreement if the donor’s contribution is not received within 120 days of submission of the original form.

The minimum contribution amount by credit card payment is $1,000; the maximum amount permitted is $499,999. A 4% processing fee will be charged for each credit card transaction. A gift receipt will be generated and sent via email after successful submission of this charge for the full amount of your contribution. Your donor-advised fund will receive the amount of your contribution less the 4% fee. Your credit card contribution is an irrevocable, unconditional and nonrefundable contribution when received and accepted by NPT.

² Illiquid assets may be subject to certain restrictions, including fee accruals, interest and charges for services. In addition, gifts of restricted stock should be submitted prior to the last business day in November for consideration in the current year. Donors should contact J.P. Morgan if they wish to gift these assets.

³ Additional fees may be incurred and charged to the donor as a result of processing these gift types.

⁴ Not all donor-advised funds allow for transferability.

For contributions made from a trust, a copy of the trust certificate or the relevant pages of the trust agreement are required in order to substantiate the identity of the trustee(s) and the authority of the trustee(s) to make distributions from the trust to the Charitable Giving Fund account. The relevant sections of the trust agreement required include the first page of the trust, the signature page and the pages or sections of the trust which detail the dispositive provision pursuant to which the distribution to NPT will be made. Similar documentation may be required for a gift from other types of entities.

Third parties may make charitable contributions to your Charitable Giving Fund account and may be eligible to take a tax deduction for their contributions. All contributions must meet the criteria outlined in this Reference Guide and be accompanied by a Contribution Agreement signed by the third-party contributor.

- Third-party contributors have no privileges in the Charitable Giving Fund account (including privileges to recommend investment allocation and/or grants) with respect to such contributions.
- Third-party contributors may not receive anything in exchange for or in consideration of their contribution, under IRS rules.
- Advisors may not solicit third-party contributions on behalf of a specific charitable organization or on their own behalf, and may not guarantee to contributors that intended grant recommendations will be approved.
- Advisors are not entitled to the charitable gift tax deduction for third-party contributions to the Charitable Giving Fund account.

GIFTING ILLIQUID ASSETS

The J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund accepts illiquid assets to help donors create or add to their accounts. Every illiquid asset is unique and subject to approval by NPT. Each gift is individually evaluated and, if approved, is managed to maximize its value and ensure compliance with IRS gifting rules. NPT and J.P. Morgan provide personalized communication with donors and Advisors on every aspect of the review and liquidation process.

Contribution Minimums:

NPT has established minimum thresholds for accepting illiquid assets, as listed below:

TYPE OF ASSET	CONTRIBUTION MINIMUM
Alternative investments (hedge funds and private equity)	$1,000,000
Privately held business interest	$500,000
Real estate (residential and commercial)	$500,000
Tangible personal property (artwork and collectibles)	$250,000
Structured notes	$250,000
Restricted stock (including Rule 144/145)	$25,000
Cryptocurrency	$25,000

Due to the inherent complexities in processing gifts of illiquid assets, an additional fee may be charged based on the costs incurred in accepting such gifts, including legal fees. Please see Fees and Expenses section for illiquid gifting fees.

Key Considerations for Illiquid Gifts

- Appraisal: The IRS may require a donor to secure a qualified appraisal to substantiate the value of the donor's gift when claiming a charitable deduction. If a donor fails to obtain a qualified appraisal, the IRS may disallow the donor's tax deduction.
- Gift Proceeds: Due to the amount of time required to liquidate the asset, and market factors, sales proceeds may differ from the appraised or fair market value at the time of the contribution.
- Tax Consequences: Neither NPT nor J.P. Morgan provides legal or tax advice. Donors need to consult their professional tax advisors to evaluate their individual tax circumstances.

RECOMMEND INVESTMENT CHOICES

Donors may recommend the investments (as made available by the Charitable Giving Fund) their gifts should be invested—including their allocation, by percentage (not by dollar amount)—on DonorView, subject to final approval by NPT. Due to the risk level of certain asset classes, certain limitations may be placed on allocations. If an Advisor does not make an investment recommendation, funds will be automatically invested in a J.P. Morgan Money Market Fund. Asset reallocation recommendations from an Advisor are processed by NPT on a weekly basis. Reallocation recommendations may be submitted using DonorView. Additional contributions will be invested in the same manner as the current investment allocation recommendation on file. A summary of the investment options available is described below. Please contact your J.P. Morgan representative to discuss a suitable asset allocation based on your giving objectives.

INVESTMENT OPTIONS

Diversified Multi-Asset Class Portfolios

- For Advisors seeking diversification to multiple asset classes in a single investment
- These portfolios have a mix of equity, fixed income, liquid alternatives and short-term instruments that range from a higher equity allocation mix to a lower equity allocation mix.
- Portfolio options include strategies with and without JPM Managed solutions, as well as index-oriented options.

Advisory Program—Thematic Portfolios

- For Advisors seeking to address specific investment objectives for their Giving Fund accounts, the J.P. Morgan Advisory Program offers a thematic approach to investing for their Giving Fund accounts.
- Includes strategies that seek to address specific investment objectives, provide exposure to targeted asset classes, or capture timely market opportunities in a transparent and liquid separate account format.

Single Strategy Investment Options

- For Advisors who prefer to select individual investment strategies, a la carte, we offer a choice of mutual funds and ETFs.

Customized Separate Accounts

Charitable Giving Fund accounts with balances greater than $2 million may benefit from our broad range of investment services, tailored to meet your specific objectives.

UNRELATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX

Charitable Giving Fund accounts will be debited for any Unrelated Business Income Tax liability attributable to the assets or investment activities of the Charitable Giving Fund. If applicable, NPT will reserve a portion of assets in the Fund in an amount it estimates sufficient to pay the tax liability. NPT strongly recommends the Fund donor consult with their legal or tax advisor to review the specific tax implications of donating assets that may generate Unrelated Business Income.

RECOMMEND GRANTS

Advisors recommend grants by submitting a grant recommendation via DonorView. The recommendation specifies the recipient, purpose of the grant, and the dollar amount up to the available assets in the Charitable Giving Fund account. Each recommendation must be for a minimum of $250, and Advisors may make an unlimited number of grants from their Charitable Giving Fund accounts, provided there are sufficient funds. NPT has final authority over the distribution of grants, and must approve all grant recommendations.

If the grant recommendation is not approved, NPT will contact the J.P. Morgan banking team to explain the reasons why the recommendation was declined, and provide an alternative solution, if applicable. A J.P. Morgan representative will contact the Advisor to provide information about a declined grant recommendation. The Advisor may then decide to submit an alternate grant recommendation.

Eligible Charities

Grants can be recommended for charitable organizations that are tax-exempt under IRS Code Section 501(c)(3) and are public charities under Code Section 509(a). Grants can also be made to private operating foundations as described in Code Section 4942(j)(3), in some circumstances.

A wide range of organizations eligible for recommendation include:

- Museums and arts organizations
- Schools and educational institutions
- Environmental organizations
- Hospitals and healthcare organizations
- Scientific and medical research institutes
- Religious organizations and places of worship
- Other organizations or institutions established for charitable purposes

Ineligible grant recipients and purposes include, among others:

- Individuals
- Private non-operating foundations
- Non-functionally integrated Type III supporting organizations
- Political campaigns, candidates or organizations supporting lobbying activity
- Payment of dues, membership fees, tuition, goods from charitable auction, or other goods/services
- Payment of any portion of the cost of a table or tickets to a gala or event in which the full ticket price is not tax deductible (i.e., split gifts)

Grant Recognition or Anonymity

When recommending a grant, the Advisor may choose a number of ways for the grant to be recognized:

- The grantor's name and the Charitable Giving Fund account name
- In honor, in memory or in recognition of someone
- Remain anonymous and not be identified
- The name of the grantor and contact information will not be released to any recipient charity without the permission of the account. All grants must be issued by the J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund directly to the recipient charity; you may not deliver J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund grant checks to the charitable organization.

Recurring Grants

A grant may be recommended to be distributed on a recurring basis—monthly, quarterly, semiannually, annually—to a specific charity. Please note: Recurring grants may be discontinued for insufficient funds, or if an Advisor sends a notice to suspend those grants.

Distributing Grants

Upon receipt of a grant recommendation, it will be reviewed and, if approved by NPT, processed within 3-7 days. Grants that require additional due diligence may take longer. Grants to organizations that have been operating as a public charity for less than five years will require additional due diligence.

Each grant will be funded by redeeming the investments in which the donor's account is invested. Investments will be redeemed in proportionate amounts from each investment (unless otherwise specified by the donor) according to account balances at the time the grant recommendation is processed.

Once a grant is approved, NPT will send a grant check to the charitable organization via first-class U.S. mail. An accompanying letter will recognize the Charitable Giving Fund from which the grant was made and advise the grantee organization of the name of donor to be thanked for the recommendation. Remember that the donor is not entitled to an additional deduction when a grant is made from their Charitable Giving Fund.

The distribution itself bears the name of the J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund as well as the name of the individual Charitable Giving Fund. If Advisors prefer a grant to be sent anonymously, they may select that option in the grant recommendation, and the donor will not be named in the correspondence to the charity.

Advisors with online access can log in to DonorView to see when a grant recommendation was received and when the amount was distributed.

INTERNATIONAL GRANTMAKING

The J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund allows donors to make direct grants to international charities through J.P. Morgan's partnership with NPT.

Direct Grants to International Charities

Grants to charities based overseas require additional due diligence to determine the charities' eligibility to receive grants. Once awarded, grants to these organizations also require monitoring and reporting to ensure that a charity has used the grant for its intended purpose. NPT can use Expenditure Responsibility (ER) or Equivalency Determination (ED) to process international grants. ER and ED are due diligence processes to ensure and verify that the grant funds are utilized for charitable purposes. ER works well for specific projects with trackable budgets, and ED works well for general operating grants. Based on numerous factors, including location of recipient organization and type of grant, NPT determines which method to use.

Please see Fees and Expenses for international grantmaking fees.

GRANT AGREEMENTS

The J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund allows donors to establish specialized grant agreements through J.P. Morgan's partnership with NPT.

Grant Agreements

When donors wish to make a grant that requires specific terms, NPT drafts and finalizes a gift agreement with the charity based on the donor's intent. Examples of particular terms or conditions that can be incorporated into a grant agreement include:

- Benchmarking
- Results and research findings
- Reporting requirements
- Matching or challenge grant provisions
- Restrictions on use of funds
- Recognition

Please see Fees and Expenses for grant agreement fees.

MINIMUM ACCOUNT ACTIVITY

If more than three years have passed since the Advisor has made a grant recommendation to a qualified charity and no contribution has been made to the Charitable Giving Fund account for three consecutive years, NPT will make reasonable attempts to contact the Advisor to request that the Advisor recommend a grant of at least $250 to charity. If the Advisor does not respond within six months of NPT's initial contact attempt, NPT will make an effort to reach a Successor Advisor named on the account, if any, and request that he or she recommend a qualified charitable organization to receive a $250 grant from the Charitable Giving Fund account. If NPT is unable to reach a named Successor Advisor or if there are no Successor Advisors named on an account, NPT will seek to honor the original Advisor's donative intent by making one $250 grant, in the following order of priority:

- Named Successor Charities: NPT will make a $250 grant from the Advisor's Charitable Giving Fund account to: (i) a qualified charitable organization listed in the account's Legacy Plan; or (ii) a qualified charitable organization similar in mission and scope (as determined by NPT in its sole discretion) to a qualified charitable organization listed in the account's Legacy Plan.
- Account Granting History: If there is no charitable organization or area of interest designated in the Charitable Giving Fund account's Legacy Plan, NPT will make a $250 grant to a qualified charitable organization that is consistent with the granting history of the account (as determined by NPT in its sole discretion).
- NPT Giving Fund: If the account has no granting history, NPT will transfer $250 from the Charitable Giving Fund account to the NPT Giving Fund, which is used to make grants to qualified charitable organizations across the country.

Abandoned Accounts Policy

If a Charitable Giving Fund account remains inactive (i.e., no grants and no contributions, excludes grants made pursuant to the minimum account activity, as previously stated) for six consecutive years or in the event of the death or resignation of the last surviving

Primary or Joint Advisor without a named individual Successor Advisor, NPT reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to honor the original Advisor's donative intent by granting the entire balance of the Charitable Giving Fund account over a maximum period of seven years, in the following order of priority:

- Named Successor Charities: If there are one or more charitable organizations or areas of interest designated in the Charitable Giving Fund account's Legacy Plan, NPT will grant the entire balance of the account: (i) to the designated organization(s); or (ii) to one or more organizations that are similar in mission and scope (as determined by NPT in its sole discretion) to the designated organizations.
- Account Granting History: If there is no charitable organization or area of interest designated in the Charitable Giving Fund account's Legacy Plan, NPT will grant the entire balance of the Charitable Giving Fund to one or more qualified charitable organizations that are consistent with the granting history of the account (as determined by NPT in its sole discretion).
- NPT Giving Fund: If the account has no granting history, NPT will transfer the entire balance of the account to the NPT Giving Fund.

Tax Considerations

When a gift is made to a Charitable Giving Fund, donors may be able to claim a charitable contribution deduction on their U.S. federal and state income tax returns (depending on the state) for the value of the gift, subject to certain limitations. The amount of the deduction will depend on many factors, including the type of asset donated:

- Cash: The Charitable Giving Fund will send an acknowledgment letter that will include the date the gift was received by NPT and the amount of the cash gift.
- Publicly Traded Securities: The Charitable Giving Fund will send an acknowledgment letter that will include the date received, a description of the contributed securities, and in most cases, the mean value (for electronically delivered securities) or closing price (for mutual fund shares) of the securities on the date NPT received them. This price is provided as a convenience only.
- Other Non-Cash Gifts (such as illiquid assets): Upon receipt, the Charitable Giving Fund will send an acknowledgment letter that will include the date the gift was received by NPT and a description of the asset gifted.

Federal tax law makes it the responsibility of donors to determine the valuation date and fair market value of non-cash gifts. The actual deduction will depend on various factors, which should be discussed with the donor's legal or tax advisors, including the acquisition date of the donated assets and the donor's annual income.

VALUATION CHANGES AFTER GIFTING

Donated securities will be sold by NPT as promptly as possible so that cash can be allocated among the investments offered by the Charitable Giving Fund. When a gift of securities is made, the initial value of the account may differ from the amount of the tax deduction a donor may claim. For example, if the value of a donated security increases (or decreases) after being donated to NPT, this will not increase (or decrease) the amount of the charitable deduction the donor may claim.

Although the property of NPT, all appreciation, as well as any post-donation income earned, will be reflected in the account, net of all applicable fees and certain other costs, as described under Fees and Expenses.

The value of the assets in an account may increase or decrease, depending on the performance of the investment(s) to which such assets are allocated. While this will affect the amount that can be granted from an account, it will not affect the amount of the charitable deduction that a donor may claim.

LIMITATIONS ON DEDUCTIONS

The tax deduction that donors may claim is subject to certain income limitations. In general, for cash gifts, donors who are individuals may not claim a deduction greater than 60% of their adjusted gross income (AGI). Deductions by donor individuals, for appreciated securities held for more than one year, are generally limited to 30% of AGI. Gifts exceeding these limits may be carried forward for up to five years.

The ability to claim a charitable deduction may be affected by certain other limitations. In the case of a donor that is a corporation, a deduction may not be claimed in excess of 10% of the corporation's taxable income, subject to certain adjustments. Gifts exceeding these limits may be carried forward for up to five years, again subject to certain adjustments. Prospective donors should consult with their tax advisors to determine the deductibility of gifts to a Charitable Giving Fund account.

TAX BENEFITS

The following are examples of potential tax benefits of gifting to the Charitable Giving Fund. Contributions are irrevocable and are therefore not part of your personal assets. As such, they are not subject to either estate tax or probate. As J.P. Morgan and NPT do not provide tax or legal advice, donors should consult their tax or legal advisors about how each of these concepts might apply specifically to them. It is also important to note that neither J.P. Morgan nor NPT is responsible for determining the value of non-cash gifts.

Cash: Donors may be eligible to claim a charitable contribution deduction for the amount of any cash gift to their accounts, subject to certain income limitations.

Mutual Fund Shares: For open-end mutual fund shares held for more than one year, a deduction may be claimed based on the closing NAV on the date ownership is transferred to NPT. For shares held for one year or less, the deduction is limited to the donor's cost basis or the fair market value of the shares, whichever is less.

Publicly Traded Securities: For gifts of publicly traded securities held for more than one year, generally a deduction can be claimed for the fair market value of the securities on the date the shares are out of the donor's control, or when NPT receives the assets. For securities held for one year or less, the deduction is limited to the donor's cost basis or the fair market value of the securities, whichever is less.

Privately Held Securities: The IRS requires the donor to secure an independent appraisal for any non-publicly traded stock that the donor values at more than $5,000. An additional processing fee is imposed on these gifts.

TAX SUBSTANTIATION LETTER

Shortly after the receipt of a gift, a tax substantiation letter will be sent to the donor to acknowledge receipt of the gift. The tax substantiation letter serves as your receipt for your contribution. Please keep the receipt for your records. The substantiation letter is also available on DonorView.

Donors may be required to obtain an independent, qualified appraisal and/or file an IRS Form 8283 to establish the amount of their tax deductions when contributing certain non-cash assets. If required, NPT will sign an IRS Form 8283 to acknowledge receipt of your contribution. The Form 8283 also contains a summary of your qualified appraisal (if applicable) of the fair market value of contributed assets. The IRS requires that you file Form 8283 with your federal income tax returns for gifts of property of $500 or more—including publicly traded and other securities—and may require the attachment of a copy of the qualified appraisal. See chart Summary of Appraisal Requirements for Donated Assets. NPT will provide any other financial reports or information required by law. Gifts are Irrevocable.⁵ The assets of the Charitable Giving Fund are legally owned and controlled by NPT for as long as they remain undistributed to qualified charitable organizations, and may not be withdrawn or refunded to the donor under any circumstances.

REPORTING AND RECEIPTS

Charitable Giving Fund account statements showing account balances and activity are available quarterly.

⁵ NPT reserves the right to reject any gift. If a gift is rejected for any reason, it will be returned promptly.

Fees and Expenses

Each account is subject to a charitable administration fee, investment expenses and any applicable processing fees. Applicable transaction fees may apply for individual equity, fixed income and ETF trades.

ANNUAL CHARITABLE ADMINISTRATION FEE

Standard Accounts

Each Charitable Giving Fund account is subject to an annual charitable administrative fee, paid to National Philanthropic Trust (NPT) for administering the account. The administrative fee covers such operating expenses as processing contributions, grant making, recordkeeping, quarterly statements, audit, tax filings, and the handling of other legal and fiscal responsibilities. The administrative fee rate is calculated based on a tiered, blended fee schedule, and is charged monthly, in arrears, based on the average ending daily balance of the account for the given period. Accounts with a balance of less than $25,000 will be charged a minimum administrative fee of $200 per year.

Customized Separate Accounts

A separate annual charitable administration fee schedule is applied for accounts greater than $2 million. Portfolio advisory fees for discretionary accounts may apply. Please speak with your J.P. Morgan representative for more information.⁶

INVESTMENT FEES & EXPENSES

A Portfolio Advisory Fee is assessed on assets in a CGF account that is invested in a managed portfolio solution. The Portfolio Advisory Fee is 0.20% (20 basis points) and is paid quarterly to J.P. Morgan. A Client Service Investment Fee will be assessed on assets invested in the a-la carte menu of investment options, including J.P. Morgan mutual funds and third-party exchange-traded funds (ETFs). The Client Service Investment Fee is 0.05% (5 basis points), and is paid quarterly to J.P. Morgan. The individual solutions in which Charitable Giving Fund assets are invested will charge an annual expense ratio.

Morgan Securities LLC, are paid fees by the J.P. Morgan Funds for providing investment advisory, distribution, administrative shareholder servicing and other services to the J.P. Morgan Funds. As disclosed in the prospectuses, J.P. Morgan affiliates, at their own expense and out of their profits, may provide additional cash payments to financial intermediaries, including such divisions. Your Advisor can provide copies of mutual fund prospectuses describing such fees, as well as further information about the fees earned by or additional cash payments received by such divisions. Illiquid Gifting Fees

Additional fees may be assessed to manage the process of accepting and liquidating unique non-cash assets such as privately held stock, limited partnership interests and real estate. These fees will be deducted from the proceeds of the sale of the donated asset. NPT will apprise donors of a range of anticipated fees prior to deducting them from their Charitable Giving Fund accounts.

For more information on illiquid gifting, please refer to Gifting Illiquid Assets.

INTERNATIONAL GRANTMAKING FEES

ACCOUNT BALANCE	INTERNATIONAL GRANTMAKING FEES
$0-$5 million	$1,750 plus legal fees per grant
$5-$10 million	One free grant annually, then $1,750 per each additional grant
Above $10 million	Three free grants annually, then $1,750 per grant

All international grants are sent via wire in U.S. dollars. If the donor prefers that the grant be made in local currency, there will be an additional processing charge of $175 plus any applicable currency exchange fees (based on the grant amount).

NPT reserves the right to charge additional fees for any added (out of the ordinary) due diligence necessary, such as, but not limited to, site visits, translation services, high-risk areas, advice from legal counsel and reporting issues. The related fees will be assessed additionally against the Charitable Giving Fund account assets.

SPECIALIZED GRANTMAKING FEES

NPT charges an additional fee for the development of grant agreements. This fee is paid from the Charitable Giving Fund account when the grant agreement is initially sent to the recipient charity.

Legal counsel reviews all grant agreements into which NPT will enter. All legal charges are reimbursed to NPT from the Charitable Giving Fund account assets. Once entered into, these grant agreements are legally binding on NPT and the Charitable Giving Fund account, and must be fulfilled according to the terms of the agreement. NPT will also encumber any future payments listed in multi-year grant agreements.

ACCOUNT BALANCE	FEE
$0-$5 million	$1,750 plus legal fees per grant agreement
$5-$10 million	One free grant annually, then $1,750 per grant agreement; legal fees will be expensed in all cases
Above $10 million	Three free grant agreements annually, then $1,750 per grant agreement; legal fees will be expensed in all cases

Short-Term Account Fee

If an Advisor grants out more than 95% of the assets in an account within 12 months of opening, NPT reserves the right to charge the account the short-term fee equal to the greater of (i) $500 or (ii) 2% of the opening balance (up to a maximum fee of $25,000).

The Charitable Giving Fund and Private Foundations⁸

COMPARING PRIVATE FOUNDATIONS AND DONOR-ADVISED FUNDS

When considering the appropriate charitable giving vehicle, take into account the following characteristics of private foundations and donor-advised funds.

WHY USE A DONOR-ADVISED FUND
	PRIVATE FOUNDATION	DONOR-ADVISED FUND (DAF)
Startup cost	Legal fees and other startup costs can be substantial; typically takes several weeks, and often a few months, to create	Typically, none (often covered by sponsoring charity); can be established immediately
Ongoing administrative management fees	Varies with choice of board and level of services required; must file annual tax returns, conduct independent audit, manage and administer all functions	Varies with sponsoring charity and level of services; typically, less than private foundation
Governance and succession	Opportunities for board selection, training and bringing in the next generation are greater; no restrictions regarding who serves on the board	Donors may name Advisors to recommend grants and investments; donors may also name successors to the account, and ensure a continuing legacy
Control of grants and assets	Donor family has complete control of all grantmaking and investment decisions, subject to self-dealing rules	Donors may recommend grants and investment allocations to sponsoring organization
Tax deduction limits for gifts of cash*	30% of adjusted gross income	60% of adjusted gross income
Tax deduction limits for gifts of appreciated property*	20% of adjusted gross income	30% of adjusted gross income
Valuation of gifts	Fair market value for cash and publicly traded stock; cost basis for gifts of closely held stock or real property	Fair market value
Excise taxes	1% or 2% of net investment income annually	None
Required payout	Must expend 5% of net assets value annually, regardless of how much the assets earn	None
Privacy	Must file detailed and public tax returns on grants, investments fees, trustee fees, staff salaries, etc.	Names of individual donors can be kept confidential, if desired

Note: Gift to a donor-advised fund generates the same tax deduction as an outright gift to charity. Tax regulations limit the deductible amount of charitable gifts depending on the asset given, the donor’s adjusted gross income (AGI), state of residence, and the status of the charity receiving the gift. These regulations are complex, and the advice of tax counsel or an accountant is recommended. This table assumes that all property has been held by the donor for more than one year.

*Any unused deductions may be carried forward up to five (5) additional years.

CHARITABLE GIVING FUND AS A COMPLEMENT TO A PRIVATE FOUNDATION

Many clients establish J.P. Morgan Charitable Giving Fund accounts to complement their private foundations.⁹ Adding a donor-advised fund account may add additional flexibility and reach to your giving, while providing favorable tax treatment.

Companion

Donor-advised funds are currently eligible to accept gifts from private foundations. Some donors use their companion Charitable Giving Fund account to help meet their private foundation's required minimum annual distribution.¹⁰

Anonymity

A Charitable Giving Fund account can provide anonymity in grantmaking. Private foundations must disclose their grantmaking on their annual tax filings, and this information is public. For donor-advised fund accounts, the tax filings are completed at the level of the sponsoring organization and do not identify the source of particular grants, which affords the donor a level of privacy that a private foundation cannot provide.

Expansion of Mission

Many private foundations have a specific mission, such as education, but the donor may wish to make a single gift to a cause outside of the foundation's scope. For such giving, a Charitable Giving Fund account may be ideal as a way to avoid mission conflict.

International Grantmaking

Global giving is a complex task, and it requires knowledge of IRS and U.S. Department of Treasury regulations and compliance rules for giving to international charities or causes. With a Charitable Giving Fund account, Advisors may recommend grants to recipients located around the world and be assured that the appropriate due diligence and reporting will be handled properly.

Next Generation

Many clients establish Charitable Giving Fund accounts to involve their children and/or grandchildren in philanthropy. Young adult family members can learn how to create their own giving programs before joining their family foundation's board.

Favorable U.S. Tax Treatment¹¹

A contribution made to your Charitable Giving Fund account may generate more favorable income tax deductions than the same one made to your private foundation. This advantage is particularly apparent when you want to donate illiquid assets such as real estate and interests in privately held businesses.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR INVESTMENTS AND POTENTIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Conflicts of interest will arise whenever JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. or any of its affiliates (together, “J.P. Morgan”) have an actual or perceived economic or other incentive in its management of our clients' portfolios to act in a way that benefits J.P. Morgan. Conflicts will result, for example (to the extent the following activities are permitted in your account): (1) when J.P. Morgan invests in an investment product, such as a mutual fund, structured product, separately managed account or hedge fund issued or managed by JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. or an affiliate, such as J.P. Morgan Investment Management Inc.; (2) when a J.P. Morgan entity obtains services, including trade execution and trade clearing, from an affiliate; (3) when J.P. Morgan receives payment as a result of purchasing an investment product for a client's account; or (4) when J.P. Morgan receives payment for providing services (including shareholder servicing, recordkeeping or custody) with respect to investment products purchased for a client's portfolio. Other conflicts will result because of relationships that J.P. Morgan has with other clients or when J.P. Morgan acts for its own account.

Investment strategies are selected from both J.P. Morgan and third-party asset managers and are subject to a review process by our manager research teams. From this pool of strategies, our portfolio construction teams select those strategies we believe fit our asset allocation goals and forward-looking views in order to meet the portfolio's investment objective.

As a general matter, we prefer J.P. Morgan managed strategies. We expect the proportion of J.P. Morgan managed strategies will be high (in fact, up to 100 percent) in strategies such as, for example, cash and high-quality fixed income, subject to applicable law and any account-specific considerations.

While our internally managed strategies generally align well with our forward-looking views, and we are familiar with the investment processes as well as the risk and compliance philosophy of the firm, it is important to note that J.P. Morgan receives more overall fees when internally managed strategies are included. We offer the option of choosing to exclude J.P. Morgan managed strategies (other than cash and liquidity products) in certain portfolios.
